Berlin In Grip of 'Money War'

Russia Tries to Halt Use of New Currency

BERLIN—(INS)—The western powers decisively rejected a Soviet bid for economic control of Berlin today with an order declaring only the new "deutsche mark" valid in Berlin's western sector.

The Russians previously had announced their new currency as the only legal medium of exchange in the former German capital.

The three western occupying powers—Britain, France and the United States—issued an order nullifying the Soviet order as far as the western sectors of the city are concerned.

The U. S.-printed "Deutsche mark," introduced Sunday, was termed invalid by the Russians in Berlin and their own zone. They will issue their own currency tomorrow.

A three-power statement countermanding the Russian order said it was motivated by a Soviet attempt to "usurp for itself the authority to dominate the economic affairs of Berlin" and termed it "a violation and total disregard" of present agreements.

The announcement said that details of the manner and time for conversion of currency into the new Deutsche marks will be made public" shortly. Meanwhile, all banks were ordered closed and a moratorium was declared on all financial obligations.

Western military officials expressed the opinion that the Soviets had attended yesterday's conference on currency reform without any sincere intention of reaching agreement.

PLAN 'CRACK-DOWN'

The joint announcement coincided with a United States declaration that it intends to "crack down" on all Russians—regardless of rank—who violate any laws in the American sector of Berlin.

The American, British and French commandants in Berlin announced that the Soviet currency reform order is "null and void" in their sectors.

The American crackdown was announced by the provost marshal's office which said that violation of speed laws also will bring arrest.

Lieut. Col. E. R. Kelly, acting provost marshal, said all Soviet offenders will be arrested and brought to military police headquarters.

His order added:

"Such force as is necessary will be used to insure that the offender presents himself at headquarters."

He said serious offenders would be released only on order of the commanding officer of the Berlin military post

Mansfield Perspires In Humid Wave

Mercury Goes Up To 86; Crops Aided

Mansfield perspired today in the first heat wave of the summer.

But—as the saying goes—it wasn't the heat, it was the humidity.

The mercury climbed to 86 yesterday afternoon and back to the same mark by noon today. It was scheduled to go higher this afternoon.

Both the humidity and temperature are expected to drop tomorrow, bringing at least temporary relief.

The heat and muggy air were ideal for corn and garden crops There is sufficient moisture in the ground to spur growth. Farmers could almost hear their corn grow. Tomatoes, beans, and other garden crops have needed hot nights, gardeners said.

Brisk but brief thunderstorms brought less than a tenth of an inch of rain to Mansfield last night. More scattered showers were in sight for today and tonight.

Yesterday the mercury climed into the 90's in many localities. Cincinnati reported its first hot weather fatality when a 50-year-old man collapsed and died of a heart attack while shoveling coal into the basement of his home. High reading for Cincinnati was 90.

Other high temperatures were 93 at Columbus, 89 at Cleveland and 90 at Dayton. Two homes in the Cleveland area were damaged by lightning.

Prowler Picks Wrong Place to Stop

A Mansfield prowler picked the wrong home last night, so he paid a $10 fine in municipal court today.

Patrolman Arlo Garver was off duty at home. Seated in his trailer at 20 Glenn avenue shortly before midnight, he heard a noise outside and ran out in time to grab John B. Wheaton, Mansfield, R. D. 4.

Wheaton was fined $10 and costs in municipal court today for being a suspicious person.

Wind Lashes Two States

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. —(UP)—Repair crews worked today to clear highways of debris strewn by a tornado which lashed across part of Nebraska and Iowa last night, killing one person and injuring at least five others.

The twister flattened farm buildings, snapped power and telephone lines and uprooted trees. It pushed seven cars of a Missouri Pacific freight train off the track a mile southwest of here and sent them tumbling down an embankment. Four trainmen were injured.

The tornado struck in the southeast corner of Nebraska and swept northeasterly into Iowa for 60 miles before blowing itself out near Emerson. It left a trail of destruction a half mile wide in many places.

U. S. weather forecasters said the twister was part of a storm which also struck parts of Missouri and Kansas, where high winds and driving rain inflicted heavy damage along the border between the two states and littered highways with wreckage.

Brush Stricken At Convention

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Louis H. Brush, 76, chairman of the board of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., was taken ill suddenly today at 4 a. m. He is here attending the Republican national convention. His condition is critical.

Brush was stricken in the apartment of a friend, Henry A. Hurst, which he was occupying with another friend, C. F. (Ted) Routzahn of Mansfield. He was admitted to Hahnemann hospital.

The Brush-Moore newspapers published the Mansfield News before its consolidation with the Journal in 1932.

Retailers Dine Tonight

Mansfield merchants make their 23rd annual goodwill pilgrimmage tonight.

Members of the Retail Merchants association will eat fried chicken, country style, at the Grange hall i nShenandoah. Women of the community are expected to start serving 165 merchants and their guests at 6:45.

Following the dinner, several local entertainers will present a program. A song fest will complete the evening's entertainment.

HALE AND HEARTY—The only living former president of the United States, Herbert Hoover, looked hale and hearty as he addressed the Republican convention in Philadelphia last night. He won the greatest spontaneous ovation to date.

OHIO CONGRESSWOMAN TALKS—Rep. Frances E. Bolton of Lyndhurst makes a speech at third session of the convention.

State Cites Cafe Owners

Display of Gaming Devices Charged

Wilbur Wade jr and Richard Roberts, operators of the Orchard Park cafe at Orchard park, were cited yesterday by the State Liquor department for possession of gambling devices.

A hearing on the charges was set for July 8 before the liquor control board in Columbus.

D. T. Geyer, state liquor enforcement chief, told The News-Journal the citation resulted when enforcement agents found a so-called "fish bowl," containing tip sheets in the restaurant.

Geyer said conviction can bring suspension or revocation of the cafe's beer and wine permits.

Lifts Strike Injunction

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today dismissed an injunction issued against John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers last April to end their month-long pension strike.

Goldsborough dismissed the injunction 24 hours after he handed Lewis a sweeping victory in federal court in the UMW president's fight with soft coal operators over the mine pension issue.

The jurist acted at the request of Assistant Attorney General Graham Morison who said that the 80-day anti-strike order would expire anyway on July 15.

Lewis resumed negotiations with soft-coal operators this morning on a new agreement.

Ex-President Stirs Convention

Defeat Dregs Turn To Hoover Triumph

By INEZ ROBB

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—An old man who has drained the bitterest dregs of political defeat and hatred in this generation has at long last tasted the sweet acclaim and spontaneous affection of men and women he has served long and faithfully.

Herbert Hoover, 74, only living ex-President of the United States, last night touched off the only extemporaneous and enthusiastic demonstration that this hot and sluggist Republican convention has yet seen.

The mere appearance of this distinguished American and world citizen on the speakers' platform set off a sixteen minute demonstration both rousing and touching in its noisy, vociferous American way.

As delegates on the seething floor and the packed gallery gods stood and cheered in his honor the old gentleman, stiff and erect as always in his inevitable blue suit and his high, Hoover collar, seemed a little bewildered, a little surprised and a little disconcerted.

The ex-President peered uncertainly into the blinding kleig and television lights As the state banners began to dance in the aisles in his honor, as the band blared forth his favorite tune, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," he blinked his eyes

Not because the lights were blinding or their glare unbearable but because they were moist with the sudden realization that through this noisy tumult these people were trying to tell him of their deep respect and lasting affection.

Unions Vote On Proposal

A mass meeting for Westinghouse Locals 711 and 759, UE-CIO, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Johnny Appleseed junior high auditorium, at which members will be asked to ratify or reject the eight per cent wage offer made by the company Sunday.

Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, said both the wage increase and economic adjustments in the union's contract will be submitted to members for a vote.

Hawkins said members who fail to attend Sunday's meeting will be counted as "yes" votes.

PHILADELPHIA — A Mansfield boy, Charles Nail Jr., of 730 Woodhill road, is learning democracy from the top down.

"Chuck," as his dad calls him, is now an avid Vandenberg fan. But in spite of his Vandenberg sentiments, he shook hands with all the major candidates. He has met congressmen, senators, campaigns managers and others who make up a political convention crowd. He has even expressed his political views over a nation-wide hook-up.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor spent some time with "Chuck" talking up Taft, and Charles Nail sr., won't be surprised if it has some effect. After all, he explained, "Chuck" was an avid Dewey fan, just a short time ago.

Charles jr., arranged with the Michigan Vandenberg delegation to aid in greeting the senator upon his arrival.

Meantime Charles sr, doesn't want to express his preferences. He mentioned seeing Joe Prewitt, former assistant secretary of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, in the hotel lobby.

Plan Trade Of Diplomats

U. S., Israel Make Agreement

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States today tightened its ties with the new state of Israel by agreeing to an exchange of diplomatic missions.

The agreement, announced by President Truman last night, adds another friendly gesture to his prompt recognition of the infant state on May 15 State department officials emphasized it implies no American commitment in connection with Arab-Jewish hostilities now halted by a truce.

James Grover McDonald of New York was named special United States representative to the Tel Aviv regime.

The Jewish state designated Eliahu Epstein to head an Israeli mission in Washington.

Meanwhile, in Israel, Israeli mortar fire blasted a munitions ship beached by Irgun Zvai rebels last night as civil strife shook the new Jewish state of Israel.

The ammo-laden vessel burst into flames, throwing a four-hour battle between Irgun and the army into confusion. Thousands of Tel Aviv residents fled the central water front scene of the fighting

The ship—an LST—was carrying 600 tons of munitions in violation of the terms of the four-weeks United Nations truce which forbids the importation of arms during that period.

Later, persons watching from distant rooftops said they heard 12 or 15 explosions. Clouds of smoke arose, obscuring the whole area.

There were no further reports of Irgun-Israeli fighting on Tel Aviv beach after both sides fled the battle ground in fear of explosions.

The battle began early yesterday when Irgun gun runners beached their munitions ship within a block of the hotel occupied by United Nations truce observers. Irgun refused to surrender the ship to government custody, and the Israeli army rushed platoons of infantry to the waterfront.

Taft, Stassen Join to Block Dewey's Blitz

By JACK BELL

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia—(AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg gave consent today for his name to be placed formally in nomination for the presidency at the Republican convention.

His move cheered those presidential hopefuls—led by Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen—who were trying desperately to halt Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's blitz bid for the nomination on an early ballot. They figured Vandenberg's name before the convention would hold from Dewey some votes which otherwise might race to him.

Vandenberg stuck by his stand that he is not actively seeking the nomination. But Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said he had obtained the senator's consent for him to put up his name.

Asked if he was nominating Vandenberg in the belief Vandenberg can win or as a gesture of respect, Sigler replied. "If I didn't honestly believe there was real hope of winning I would not nominate him."

Convention Closes Its 5th Session

Halleck Gives Russia Warning

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—The Republican National convention adjourned its fifth session at 12:10 p. m. today after hearing a warning that Russia shall go "thus far and no farther."

The warning was given by House Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana in a prepared speech. Hallack appeared on the platform 10 minutes before the regularly scheduled call of the convention, glanced over the sparsely filled auditorium and stepped back to await the opening gavel.

The convention band played "Somebody Stole My Gal" and jaded delegates, weary from long night meetings in the fiery contest between the forces of Gov. Thomas E Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft. mopped their brows and waited for today's big show to begin.

Permanent Chairman Martin of Massachusetts called the convention to order at 10:15 a. m. (EST).

For the convention delegates it was a last perfunctory session—for oratory and platform adoption—before getting down to the big business of putting its candidates in nomination.

That will come tonight—with Dewey getting the No. 1 spot on the speech program.

Convention Chairman Joseph W Martin jr., of Massachusetts—himself a possible nominee should a deadlock develop—said the speechmaking will be wound up tonight and the first ballot taken tomorrow morning.

Communists Call Parley

WARSAW—(UP)—Communism's top brass was planning cold war strategy today in a closely guarded meeting in a 17th century palace five miles outside Warsaw.

Led by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the makers of foreign policy in all the Soviet satellite nations of eastern Europe gathered here.

Communist leaders from Italy and France also were attending, apparently to get the party line for new attempts to spread communism in those countries.

Other representatives from Russia, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslavia were on hand as the conference, described by one Balkan diplomat as "the biggest and the most important" since the war, opened in Wilanow palace, once the seat of Polish kings. A Bulgarian diplomat was reported en route.

A meeting of high communist officials had been rumored for days, as one after another left his own nation for an unannounced destination.

Illinois Governor Aids Taft's Cause

PHILADELPHIA — Governor Dwight Green announced today he will release delegates pledged to him on the second ballot and ask Illinois' 56 delegates to cast their votes for Sen. Taft of Ohio.

This development offset the effect of an announcement by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey that he would ask the New Jersey delegation to cast all of its 35 votes for Gov. Dewey of New York also on the second ballot.

The New Yorker's backers, already claiming the nomination was assured, got another boost when Sen. James Kem of Missouri came out for Dewey. Missouri has 33 votes.

Meanwhile, Indiana's 29-vote delegation was reported leaning toward Dewey in the hope of winning the vice presidential nomination for House Republican Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana.

Sigler made the announcement after Vandenberg had put in his first appearance at the Michigan headquarters.

The Taft-Stassen moves to head off Dewey kept their backers in an almost continuous round of conferences. The principals themselves were meeting.

Taft and Stassen first met secretly last night, and again for an hour this morning.

Working with the Taft and Stassen forces in the "stop Dewey" campaign was Gov. Duff of Pennsylvania.

LEADERSHIP LACKING

But it was a war council without a commander-in-chief, an army fighting for a half dozen generals—each with a different idea of the outcome.

And some idea of the task that lay before these disjointed, if determined legions, was furnished by an Associated Press survey of state delegation intentions.

Based in many cases on official delegation polls and in others on the best guess of responsible members, this survey indicated that if Dewey throws in his full strength he may have from 374 to 407 votes on the first ballot.

Taft's first ballot figure was estimated in the survey at between 207 and 217 on the first count, with a net backlog of 60 additional votes due to come his way.

STASSEN HAS 150

Stassen's strength was listed as 150 on the first ballot. But if the delegates carried out their announced intentions, the Minnesotan might lose a net of 13 thereafter.

Vandenberg was credited with up to 55 votes as a starter, a total of 54 votes are needed to win the nomination.

The anti-Dewey forces thus were estimated to have a maximum of 519 first ballot votes—not counting strictly favorite sons. But they were split five ways.

And in that lay the chances for the seemingly outnumbered legions of the New York governor to make him the first nominee in the history of 24 Republicans to get a second crack at the White House after once failing to make the grade.

The Taft-Stassen-Warren-Duff strategy apparently was to agree that each would hold his own lines firm and help keep doubtful states like New Jersey, Indiana and Massachusetts out of Dewey's hands.

Director Discloses Project Results

Bible Schools Aid Salvation Army

Results of the largest "project" program ever undertaken by a summer Daily Vacation Bible school here were announced today by Mrs. Mary James, who directed the program for the two-week course.

The projects, participated in by 17 schools, included one on behalf of the local Salvation Army detention home.

"In this project, our object was to supply entertainment for the children who are detained at the Salvation Army for periods ranging from one day to a month," Mrs. James explained.

"To help Mrs. Jones, wife of Major William Jones, in her task of keeping these children wholesomely occupied, the children of our Bible schools made 28 scrap books, three story books, four games, 10 dolls, six puzzles and about four dozen miscellaneous toys."

AID CHILDREN ABROAD

Two projects were designed to aid persons overseas. One was for the children who, through war, have been denied practically all the normal joys of the average child, Mrs. James said.

"Sympathy for these children resulted in making 387 animals of many shapes and sizes and hues. The little tots helped by cutting up bits of cloth for the stuffing.

"Clowns, stocking dolls and baby dolls numbered 56 and in addition there were 42 bean bags, 62 scrap books, miscellaneous gifts such as carved soap, puzzles, crayons.

"From five wood-working shops, for which Mrs. Thomas G. Zaugg of the Park Avenue Bible school was advisor, we got 83 brightly painted and varnished toys and plaques."

Under the heading of "useful" items were 17 aprons, and 114 pairs of soft house shoes, made of discarded felt hats.

PURCHASE BIBLES

Another project was the collecting of daily offerings for purchase of Bibles for the American Bible society.

A total of $267.72 was contributed by the children during the course. That amount will be enough to purchase approximately 53 kits, of five Bibles each. These Bibles will be sent to Russia, Germany, China, Korea and Japan.

"We likened this part of our project to the five smooth stones which David picked out of the brook when he killed Goliath," Mrs. James explained. "Each of the stones was comparable to a Bible and although one Bible, like the stone, was a small contribution, yet the children felt they were doing something definite toward the Christianization of the world and helping in their small way to help the people of other nations find a sustaining faith."

Heavy Title Joust Threatened By Rain

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

TRIS SPEAKER follows a pattern which is becoming familiar to local patrons of the national pastime — baseball. . . . He does a pretty decent job of selling the Indians. . . . We've heard Bill Veeck and Hank Greenberg make the Mansfield folks feel that the Indians are their ball club. . . . Speaker does the same. . . . All three are frank with their opinions of the Tribe and seem willing and happy to answer all queries frankly. . . . One thing that Tris has all by himself, though. . . . He has a wealth of stories from the early days of the game. . . . Back when the emery ball, spitter and shiner were common pitches. . . . He unfolded quite a few last night at the First Presbyterian Men's club annual father-and-son banquet. . . . One in particular we liked. . . . It seems in those days only one umpire worked the game and most of the early-day arbiters were "cards." . . . Tim Hurst was one of the best. . . . He was working a game and the first pitch to this batter, a called strike, raised a bit of protest. . . . The would-be- hitter mildly beefed because he said the ball was high and inside. . . . The second pitch split the plate for strike two. . . . Then the third one was thrown over (it was actually high and inside) and Tim called it a ball. . . . The batter really kicked then and gave Tim to understand that the third pitch was in the same place as the first one. . . . 'Well'" said Tim, "In that case it's a strike three and you're out."

★

SPEAKER got off on the subject of Bobby Feller and the Indians' chances of bringing home the 1948 American league banner. . . . In his opinion "there's nothing wrong with Feller that a few runs won't cure." . . . Could be as Rapid Robert is always plagued with a lack of hitting support. . . . Tris feels that the Indians can win the flag if Feller is right and "Bob should win 20 games this year. You know Feller did not win a game from May 19 until Sunday, and we still led the league by 3½ games. But I'm glad that the Boston Red Sox did not get a good start, because Joe McCarthy really has a good club."

★

TRIS ALSO believes that Larry Doby will make a great outfielder. . . . Larry never played the outfield before this season and he has been doing a pretty fair job, although the pressure has been great. . . . Speaker says that right now Larry swings too hard "but he will get over that." . . . Tris spoke in the Presbyterian auditorium after the father and son fete in the church parlor. . . . He left with the admonition, "There's still a long way to go this season, so don't begin ordering your world series tickets yet." . . . The "Grey Eagle" knows whereof he speaks, as he directed the Tribe to its only pennant way back in 1920.

Joe Louis Favored To Keep Crown

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (UP) — As Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott awaited the bell for their million-dollar heavyweight title fight at Yankee stadium tonight, the U. S. weather bureau indicated rain might cause a postponement of the bout.

The forecast included: "Occasional showers and afternoon or evening thunderstorms. Partial clearing at night."

The uncertainty about the weather was matched by uncertainty as to whether this was to be Louis' last bout. He has said repeatedly that he will retire after tonight, but his comanagers, Marshall Miles and John Roxborough, insist that the question will be decided by his showing tonight.

LONGEST REIGN

If this should be the end of the trail for Louis, it will mark the end of the longest reign in heavyweight history. Louis won the crown from Jim Braddock 11 years ago yesterday

If necessary, this second meeting of the 34-year-old Negro scrappers would be postponed until tomorrow night, Sol Strauss of the 20th Century club said.

Neither today's forecast nor yesterday's rains lessened the demand for tickets, Strauss assured With more than $800,000 "already in the till," he hoped for a crowd of more than 50,000 and a gate of nearly $1,000,000.

Louis was expected to scale between 214 and 215; Walcott, about 194½.

Betting tightened to 12-5 favoring Louis, and a poll of 79 sports writers disclosed that 23 of them picked the challenger. The betting price may be less than 2-1 when they enter the ring

ONLY DROPS ONE

As the Detroit Negro attempted the 25th defense of his crown, he was favored for three major reasons: (1) His record of 60 victories in 61 professional fights is one of the most notable in ring history; (2) Despite his narrow escape in December, with Walcott, he is still champion after the longest and busiest reign in heavyweight annals; (3) He has knocked out all nine opponents who faced him in return bouts.

Louis will receive 40 per cent of the net gate and 40 per cent of the $100,000 radio and television receipts, and 40 per cent of future profits from the movies. Walcott gets 20 per cent of everything except the movies, for which he will receive about 21¼ per cent. Profits on the December movies totalled more than $650,000, although the bout in the Garden drew only $216,477.

The main bout is scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST).

Big Nine Thinclads Romp Over Pacific Conference

EVANSTON, Ill. — (AP) — Bill Porter, Northwestern's ace hurdler, led the Big Nine to a 93¾ to 39¾ triumph over the Pacific coast conference in a dual twilight track and field meet at Dyche stadium last night.

The Big Nine, scoring its third straight win in the eight meets of the classy dual series, won 12 firsts and tied for another in the 126 events.

Porter was the only double winner. The Northwestern star won the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.9 to set a new meet record. The old mark was 14 seconds flat by Bob Wright of Ohio State in 1942.

The only other record to fall was in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay. The Big Nine squad eclipsed the world mark with a 56.8 clocking. The accepted world record of 58.6 was set in 1940 by Texas. Porter was a member of the winning relay. Others were George Walker, Illinois; Tom Mitchell, Indiana, and Richard Maxwell, Ohio State.

The Big Nine 440-yard sprint relay team finished on top and Mal Whitfield of Ohio State was first in the 400-yard dash in 47.6

Bob Chambers of USC copped the 880 in 1.52.4 by overtaking Ohio State's Bill Clifford in the last 50 yards.

14 Irish Grid Men Sign Up

CHICAGO — (INS) — The Chicago Cardinals will start out playing the college all-stars the night of Aug. 20, but they may end up playing Notre Dame.

No less than 14 stars from the unbeaten 1947 Irish football team, topped by all-Americans Johnny Lujack at quarterback and George Connor and Ziggy Czarobski at tackles, have been named to the college all-star team that faces the National league champs two months hence in Soldier field.

Previously, Michigan, which claimed the mythical national championship as did Notre Dame last season, had had 10 of its gridders invited to the annual preseason classic. Eight of the Wolverines have accepted.

Sport World Picks Champion

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — (UP) — The fearsome reputation founded through the years by Joe Louis made the "Brown Bomber" a heavy favorite with a cross-section of the sports world to defend his heavyweight championship successfully tonight against Jersey Joe Walcott.

Strangely enough, most of the sentiment favoring Walcott came from within the fight game itself bu in the other sports they banked heavily on the old adage of riding with the champion Here is the way some of them look at it:

For Walcott:

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight king—"If he makes the same fight he did last time"

Charley Johnson, president Fight Managers' Guild—"Because up to now Walcott was a hungry fighter. Now he's eating regularly."

Al (The Vest) Weill, fight manager — "He'll befuddle Louis again."

"Dumba Dan" Morgan, veteran manager — The essence of a 15-minute dissertation: "Walcott"

Stout Steve Owen, New York Giant coach — "Walcott by decision"

For Louis:

Jim Braddock, former heavyweight champ from whom Louis won the title - "Louis, as always."

Tami Mauriello, Louis' last knockout victim — "Walcott always was a bum, and he's still a bum."

Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox —"Louis inside four rounds."

Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight champion — "Louis in three."

Tony Zale, Middleweight champion — "Louis should knock him out inside 10 rounds."

Frank Stranahan, British amateur champ — "Itto."

Ray Arcel, veteran fight trainer — "Louis after going the distance"

Mel Ott New York Giant manager — "I feel that Louis will knock him out."

But the smartest one of all — on two counts — was Ned Irish, basketball entrepreneur at Madison Square Garden

1. Because he quit being a sportswriter.

2. Because he refused to make a selection, explaining:

"I don't know a thing about picking prize fight winners!"

You can see why the guy is a success.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves: instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, billiousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Cleveland Seeks Present For Bill

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will attempt to celebrate the second anniversary of President Bill Veeck's purchase of the club tonight with a second straight victory over the New York Yankees.

With a banner crowd of more than 60,000 fans expected for the "birthday party," Manager Lou Boudreau will send Don Black to the mound with orders to duplicate the fine hurling performance turned in by newcomer Sam Zoldak against the Yanks.

Zoldak, who was known as "Sad Sam" before his Cleveland pitching debut, uncorked some clever casting yesterday to throttle the second place New Yorkers with eight hits, 5-2, as the Indians increased their league lead to three and one-half games.

The former St. Louis Brown southpaw pitched his way out of jams in the first and third innings, when he retired the Yankees with two runners aboard in each frame. Zoldak tired in the late innings under a hot sun, but held his three-run lead until Boudreau called upon Russ Christopher to pitch one ball for the final out.

DOBY OPENS UP

Larry Doby put the Tribe in front at the outset with a single and stolen base, scoring on Eddie Robinson's one-bagger to right. The Indians took advantage of starter Frank Shea's wildness to plate two markers without a hit when Shea walked the bases loaded in the third.

Jim Hegan's pass, plus singles by Doby and Boudreau, increased the Tribe's margin to 4-0 in the fourth and the last Cleveland tally came over in the seventh on Boudreau's double, Dale Mitchell's infield single and a long fly.

Boudreau, highly pleased with Zoldak's hurling, declared: "Sam will be a big help to our pitching staff. He is more than just a 'thrower'—he really pitches to the batter's weakness."

Top Teams To Meet First Division Foes

Farm Tools and Tappan Stove, both undefeated, face first division competition in tonight's Industrial softball league games at 6 o'clock.

Leading with five straight wins, the Toolmen have the toughest way to go at Liberty park. They meet Ideal Electric which has won four of five games. Ideal lost its first game to Tappan last week.

The Stove softballers battle Mansfield Tire at North Lake park. Tappan has won four consecutive tilts and Mansfield Tire is tied with Dominion Electric for fourth place.

In the other games, Dominion plays Mansfield Plumbing at Prospect park and Cole's Tool and Dye meets Telephone company at Johns park.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Stan Musial, Cardinals—Musial cracked out five hits in five times at bat to lead the Cards to a 5-2 victory over the Boston Braves. His ninth inning single with the bases loaded snapped a 2-2 tie.

PITCHING—Harry Brecheen, Cardinals—Scattered eight Boston hits to register his eighth victory, 5-2, and his seventh at night. He has lost two.

Odd Fellows Roll to Easy Opening Win

Rain yesterday spoiled opening games in the Hot Stove league's junior major baseball league.

However, one game was played in the Junior league as the Odd Fellows smashed the Marine Corps league, 20 to 2. Tipper led the Odd Fellows with two singles, a double and a home run. He scored four times.

Huskies Win Rowing Races

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. — (UP) — Today it's Washington—first in war, first in peace, and first in collegiate rowing.

Working a Hudson river version of the old carnival "shell game," Coach Al Ulbrickson's Huskies from the far northwest completed the third grand slam in the history of the Poughkeepsie regatta yesterday by taking the prizes in the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman races.

The complete order of finish in the carsity race behind Washington and California was Navy third, Cornell fourth, Massachusetts Tech fifth, Princeton sixth, Pennsylvania seventh, Wisconsin eighth, Syracuse ninth, Columbia 10th, and Rutgers 11th.

Energy given off by the sun is estimated to be the equivalent of 5,000,000,000,000 atomic bombs per second.

Pete Thoma, Carl Kurek Shoot 35's

Husky Pete Thoma fired a one-underpar 35 yesterday to help Blue Goose Tavern hold its first place in the News-Journal A golf league but the real news of the round was made by Smokehouse.

The Smokehouse team, resting in the cellar most of the season, jumped all the way to second place by chalking up five points over PD's Bar. Al Hager and Henry Miller fired brilliant 36's, while Ken Mapes carded 40 and Wayne Anthony took 41. Mapes was forced to go one extra hole to defeat Charles Snyder who had 38.

TIES FOR MEDAL

Tied with Thoma for medalist honors was Carl Kurek. Bernie Mathias, Gene Lichtle and Bob Henry toured the Possum Run links in 37.

Blue Goose now has scored 18 points and leads the fast-climbing Smokehouse by two points. Ideal Billiards, Orr Typewriter and Myers Supply are tied for third with 15 points, while Penn Auto and Flexible Conveyor have 14. PD's, after failing to score yesterday, dropped in last place with 13 points.

Musial, Brecheen Give Cards Victory; Athletics Edge Browns With Big Rally

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

National league clubs are finding out that a team blessed with a .400 batter and an .800 pitcher is tough to beat.

It was this combination that paved the way for the 5-2 victory the St. Louis Cardinals hung upon the league leading Braves in Boston last night, and boosted the Redbirds right back into the fight for the flag.

The first half of the combination —slashing Stan Musial—stroked five consecutive singles to zoom his league leading batting average to .403. His fifth hat came in the ninth with the bases loaded to drive in a couple of mates and snap a 2-2 tie.

The other half — Harry (The Cat) Brecheen—won his eighth game of the year. He has lost two. It also marked his seventh victory in eight decisions under the lights this year.

The triumph moved the third place Cards to within a game and a half behind the league leaders. The Redbirds trail the second place Pittsburgh Pirates by half a game.

The American league pace-setters, the Cleveland Indians, whipped New York 5-2 in Cleveland to increase their margin over the runner-up Yankees to three and a half games.

Danny Litwhiler's 10th inning home run with Hank Sauer on base gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-4 victory over the Philadelphias in a night game in Philadelphia. Earlier in the game, Sauer had smashed his 21st home run of the season, a record total for a right-handed Cincinnati batter.

Earl Wooten's first major league homer gave the Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over the Tigers in a night game at Detroit.

A four-run eighth inning helped the Philadelphia Athletics beat the St. Louis Browns 7-6.

The Boston Red Sox came from behind to club the White Sox 11-6 in a night game in Chicago.

The scheduled games between the Chicago Cubs and Giants in New York and the Pirates and Dodgers in Brooklyn were postponed because of rain.

Gorman-Rupp Softballers Play Canton Nine Tonight

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp, runaway leaders of the North Central Ohio Inter-City league, will take time off from loop competition tonight to take on one of the best teams in the state—Canton Stark Brick.

The Canton team, district champions last year and holders of a 27 and 2 record at the last report this season, will be here for a nine-inning encounter at Gorman-Rupp field at 7:30 p. m. The Canton team this spring split even in a two-game series with last year's state champions, Toledo Schmidt's Beer.

Bob Marks, centerfielder, is the outstanding athlete of the visitors, having hit 34 home runs in 73 games last season. The team has three first-flight pitchers, Duane Douglas, Hugh Davis, and John Miller.

Bobby Regula, who tossed a no-hit, no-run game for Gorman-Rupp Monday will likely be Manager Nick Weber's starting choice.

Joe DiMaggio Says Pitching Will Win Flag

By LARRY MARTHEY

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Jolting Joe DiMaggio's big bat is booming again — but the Yankee's one-man batting show believes "pitching will be the answer" in a three-club race for the American league pennant.

The Yankee heir to Babe Ruth's slugging mantle overhauled Cleveland's Ken Keltner yesterday in the battle for the league home run title with a tremendous 450-foot clout into the upper deck of Cleveland stadium.

Joe's 16th circuit clout, winding up a one-man spree which lifted New York into second place, was his fifth homer in three days.

He also rapped two singles to soar above the .300 mark, and moved within one tally of Ted Williams in the runs-batted-in department.

IGNORES FEATS

The league's 1947 most valuable player ignored his slugging feats, however, when asked to predict the junior circuit pennant winner.

"It will be a fight down to the wire among the Yankees, Cleveland and Boston — and not necessarily in that order," Joe said. "I think pitching will be the answer, and the club that gets the best hurling down the stretch should win the pennant.

"Most of the pitching staffs in the league have been 'hot and cold' all year, but the club that comes up with more consistent strength on the mound will finish in front."

Board Skips Tax Decision

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — The state board of tax appeals Tuesday ruled it had no jurisdiction over whether a $99,808.76 tax assessment should hold against the National Tube company, a New Jersey firm operating a steel plant in Lorain, O.

The company had asked the board to declare two blast furnaces and 840 feet of 12-inch pipeline personal property rather than real estate, which Lorain County Auditor Frank Ayers had classified it.

In an appeal filed July 14, 1947, the company said the auditor had over-assessed the property by placing it on the real estate tax duplicate as omitted property. The company said it had paid taxes on the equipment as personal property in past years.

The board, by its decision, indicated that the furnaces and pipeline were personal property by declaring no jurisdiction in the case. By statute, if the property were real, the board could rule on the case.

New Republican Platform Wins Backing of Party Leaders

Hoover Hits Reds, Backs Foreign Aid

Martin Defends Work of Congress

BULLETIN

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia —(AP)— The Republican convention today unanimously adopted a 1948 platform looking toward world cooperatin for peace and defeat f communism at home.

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— The 1948 GOP platform which went before the Republican National convention for ratification today, carried the blessing of principal aspirants for the party's presidential nomination.

Labeled by its chief drafter as "a forthright, forward-looking guide to the American future," the 2,400-word document: (A) Pledges the party to lead America in global cooperation for peace; (B) Calls for far-reaching domestic legislation and (C) Plunges Congress into the thick of the presidential campaign.

Senator Vandenberg called the foreign plank "magnificent."

Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen said they hadn't had a chance to study the entire platform in detail but gave it their blessing. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he likes especially the public housing and civil rights planks.

The next big question is this: Will President Truman call the Republican-controlled Congress into special session this summer with a message challenging the GOP lawmakers to carry out the party's platform promises?

The President has called this the "second worst" Congress in history. He has the power to call it back anytime. And some politicians think he may exercise that power.

In the midst of the convention, however, this possibility drew scant attention. Republicans were more concerned with the business at hand, which included of an expression of views by leading figures.

Herert Hoover's sizzling attack on Russian "tyrants" and Speaker Martin's defense of the 80th Congress featured the second night of wildly applauded oratory at the convention.

APPEALS FOR PEACE

The only living former President took out after Soviet leaders in an appeal to his party to lead the interlaced battle against communism's spread and for an enduring world peace.

The world crisis, he said, is "deeper than some may think."

Hoover was given an enthusiastic 14-minute welcoming ovation by the convention delegates and the crowd.

Martin, presiding officer of the House of Representatives, leaped to the defense of the Republican controlled Congress which President Truman has lashed repeatedly.

The Massachusetts lawmaker—himself a darkhorse contender for the presidential nomination—said he is "proud" of the record written on Capitol Hill in the last year and one-half.

Martin spoke in accepting for the third straight time the permanent chairmanship of the GOP National convention.

In his review of world problems, Hoover said this country must continue to help foreign nations in rebuilding from the ravages of war—but not to such an extent as to overburden the American economy.

To weaken the nation's finances in carrying the double load of relief and increased armaments would be playing "Stalin's game," he cautioned, "for his expressed real hope lies in our economic collapse for which his fifth columns are busily planning."

The former President called upon the convention to pick candidates who will recognize "we are in a critical battle to safeguard our nation and civilization."

Buying Demand Keeps Rails In Front on Rising Market

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fast buying drove railroad issues well ahead of a rising stock market today.

Gains for the carriers ranged to an extreme of 3 points while improvement elsewhere was generally limited to a point or less.

Renewed strength in the rails was a carryover from Tuesday's market when the group as a whole matched the 21-month high first reached in mid-May.

Latest Step In Modernizing B & O Yards Nearly Complete

WILLARD — Another step in the $2,500,000 program f improvement and modernization of the yards at the Willard terminal is expected to be completed by the end of this week, according to officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

It is expected that within the next few days, the new westbound yards and car retarders will be put into operation. This new section will have 22 tracks and a control tower together with the new brick building for the westbound office force.

The improvements on the eastbound yards were completed shortly after the first of the year.

In the new yards, which are being reconstructed mainly for safety to employes, there is one main retarder just below the hump which puts the first pressure on the wheels of the cars as they pass and four other retarders farther along will slow them down as required. All are controlled by the operator in the tower. Pressure is applied by electricity. A car or even a locomotive may be stopped dead still in any of the retarders.

A considerable amount of work is yet to be done in the terminal, but when the entire program has been completed, officials state, the B. & O. at Willard will have a classification yard not excelled at any other railroad terminal in the United States and that faster and more efficient handling of cars will speed trains and result in more business for the railroad.

Fireworks Users Face Crackdown

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab warned today that violators of the state law prohibiting the unlicensed sale or use of fireworks would be "dealt with severely."

The law provides that fireworks may be displayed only if permission is granted by the fire chief or sheriff.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele said that his department grants permission for a fireworks display only when a factory representative of manufacturer handles the demonstration.

A city law prohibits the use of any type of fireworks whatsoever and does not grant any city official the right to grant a permit. However, this law has been allowed to lay dormant, and the use of fireworks is governed by the state law.

Violators of the state law can be fined from $25 to $500.

GOP Must Act Wisely For Future

Choice of Nominee Vital To Party

By WALTER LIPPMANN

PHILADELPHIA — Though the Republican convention is almost certainly choosing the next President, the leaders who will make the choice would be fooling themselves if they thought the Republican party has a dependable majority among the people.

The majority now in sight for the November election is no doubt enough to win. But it is not as yet the kind of majority which they can count upon holding together even for two years. That is to say for the congressional and state elections of 1950. Much less for four years.

Mr. Hoover was elected in 1928 by an electoral vote of 444 to 87. Two years later he had lost control of Congress. Two years after that Roosevelt defeated him by 472 to 59. In the popular vote during those four years, counting only the major party votes, the Republican percentage fell from nearly 59 per cent to less than 41 per cent. There must be at least a hundred Republican congressmen who could not survive such a shift in the popular vote.

DURABILITY WANTED

Therefore, unless the candidates and leaders are not thinking much beyond the November election and the January inauguration, their main concern will not be how to beat President Truman but how to make it reasonably certain that they have not only a big majority but a durable one.

Now it must be evident that to nominate Speaker Martin or Senator Bricker would mean that at the best they would have the smallest majority which any Republican could get. Large numbers of voters who are ready now to vote Republican would not vote at all. Considerable numbers would return reluctantly to Truman. It is not at all improbable that many would be so outraged that they would bolt, turn to the anti-Truman Democrats, and resort to some desperate expedient like the drafting of Gen. Eisenhower.

The Republicans, even if they had a majority in November would not only have a relatively small one but it would also be highly unreliable.

Less acutely, the same results would follow the nomination of Senator Taft. While he would be personally acceptable to many who could never put up with Martin or Bricker, it is quite certain that a Taft administration would have a very weak popular foundation.

It might be that Taft, who has character and brains and genuine public spirit, could win over many who would begin by opposing him. But though he might grow strong in office, his position at the outset would be weak.

A ticket—for the vice-presidency is of critical importance in the present situation—drawn from the Vandenberg-Dewey-Stassen - Warren-Duff-Lodge combination would obviously have the widest, the most representative, and therefore the most durable popular base.

This combination covers the whole Republican constituency except the irreconcilable diehards—the total reactionaries and the new isolationists who are rather aggressive expansionists and imperialists

DEWEY VULNERABLE

But it extends much further than that. It reaches into the new generation of voters, of whom the great majority have been Roosevelt Democrats, and into that very considerable mass of independents who had to vote for a third term and a fourth because the Martins and the Tabers left them no alternative.

In this combination, Vandenberg, with Dewey or Stassen or Warren as his running mate, would most certainly and convincingly solidify the popular vote. The vulnerable figure is Dewey. That is because he may be tempted to get the nomination by making a deal which would leave the diehards with so much power in the new administration that, later on, he would have either to yield to them or to fight them

But for that very serious contingency, a strong case can be made that Dewey, all in all, though not the most popular, would be the most effective President of the lot.

It is, however, a very big but Dewey, if he got the nomination after refusing to compromise on the essentials of party control, would be a quite different President than a Dewey who got a synthetic nomination, finagled together if not in a smoke-filled room, then on a spacious country estate.

Cabbie Recalls Mansfielder, Army Buddy

By HARRY HORVITZ

PHILADELPHIA — I hailed a cab with a tremendous blue and white "free" sign on it. I told the driver where I wanted go, then, realizing Philadelphia wasn't that much the City of Brotherly Love, asked the driver to explain his sign.

"We just can't get a license," he told me "We each put in a couple hundred dollars and really tried. No luck Nothing doing. The big politicians in town own the company. They'd spend a million dollars to keep someone else out.

"So, we just advertise free, and then whatever you give us in tips is o. k. Simple, isn't it?

"Not so simple, though. Twice they took me off the streets. I've had enough fighting and life's too short When the Republicans leave town, I'm going to California. This town is rotten. Suppose you read about the graft investigations going on now"

I listened to his story, tried to be kind, and then told him I was trying to get a little convention news about Mansfield, Ohio.

"Mansfield? I know the town I had an army buddy from there—Robert Grabowski We served in Newfoundland together My name is Bob Zepp

"I also knew a fellow from Crestline, but he moved to Michigan. Sam Rosenbaum was his name. I've driven through there many times on Route 30 from Philly to Wisconsin. I remember the brick streets, and the view coming into town It's a beautiful town.

"Maybe I'll never get to California; just stop in Mansfield."

Son of Former Nominee Looks Back

Flurry of Convention Stirs Memories

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The sights, sounds, smells and talk of this convention-bound city bring memories flooding back to one young Indiana alternate.

It was the 1940 Republican convention and he sat in the bright glare close to the speakers' platform in the big convention hall, watching tensely as the states swung to the support of a big, rasp-voiced Hoosier. His father stayed back in the center of town, in his hotel suite.

"It was hot," Philip Willkie recalled today, "much hotter than now. You could feel the excitement in the air, on the street. Indiana started to break . . . Dewey fell apart . . . Then it was between Wendell Willkie and Taft."

Philip, now 28, does not resemble his father physically. He is of middle height, stocky and with straight blond hair. But he has inherited his father's love of politics and the harsh, flat voice with its mid-western accent

Like Wendell Willkie, he's a lawyer, starting out in Rushville, in the heart of the corn country which has been his family's home for generations. At the moment he is on the threshold of his own political career: Republican candidate in a heavily Republican district for the state legislature

"I got it the hard way," he said. "I rang doorbells, I made speeches everywhere and I traveled more than 8,000 miles—clocked it on my own car"

PHILIP H. WILLKIE

When the primary votes were counted, Willkie had picked up 87 per cent of the votes. He immediately thanked the people for their indirect tribute to his father, who died four years ago.

"He was an exciting, dramatic and challenging man," Philip Willkie said of his father. "I never expect again to have as much fun doing anything as I had talking to him.

"He won because he was worrying about what was happening to the world. And he won because the enthusiasm of the public forced it."

Young Willkie wouldn't even attempt to dope the outcome of this convention. His delegation is pledged to it's favorite son, Rep. Charles Halleck, at the outset.

"This convention seems to be tightening up," he said. "In the history of conventions, very interesting things have happened to favorite sons—if they stayed in long enough"

Wendell Willkie's only child looked down on the crowd milling and talking around convention headquarters. He drew a deep breath.

"It all seems very long ago," he said. "At least some of it does."

Indiana Firm Offers Low Bid

The state highway department announced yesterday in Columbus that the Lester Baker company, of St. Joe, Ind., had submitted the low bid on highway improvement projects in Richland and Ashland counties.

The firm's bid was for $29,260 for bituminous treatment of several roads. The highway department had previously estimated the cost of the projects here at $32,630.

No bids were received for several bituminous paving jobs in Ashland and Wayne counties, the highway department reported

When Officials Sidestep Their Duty

DERELICT officials who wish to sidestep some phase of law enforcement in their city or county are inclined to say they will act "if someone will file an affidavit," which is nothing more than a subterfuge in instances where the mayor, police chief and other enforcement officers already KNOW about tolerated violations of state and municipal laws—as in the case of commercialized gambling in Mansfield.

In Portage county, however, where gambling operations seem to have become even more notorious than here, formal complaints against "commercial gamblers" have been filed by Henry Stark, a 28-year-old business analyst who is also a student in Kent State university.

Now it is Seabury Ford, prosecuting attorney of Portage county, who has promised to act and the outcome will be watched with interest. It is recalled that about two years ago then-Governor Frank J. Lausche ousted from office the mayor of Brady Lake, a Portage county resort, on charges that gamblers were permitted to operate and that the mayor declined to act.

Insofar as Mansfield is concerned, the mayor has announced a "hands off" policy—although it may be wondered if his hands are actually "off"—while the chief of police has retreated to a "no comment" position in the unexplained return of various forms of illegal gambling after a two-months "permanent" ban.

The prosecuting attorney of Richland county says taking the initiative in investigating the gambling situation in Mansfield is not included in the duties of his office—and it would be interesting to know what the high school juniors who have just completed their Boys State ten days training program in Delaware think about permitting elective or appointive officials to do their own deciding as to which laws to enforce and which to ignore.

Up and Up Go Automobile Prices

ANNOUNCEMENT of price increases by one after another of the automobile producers follows such a general inflationary pattern as to occasion little surprise, despite the hardship thus imposed on many prospective buyers of cars that had once been called "low-priced" but which have now been jumped to double or more their pre-inflation prices.

Just now, it appears, all automobile dealers have a backlog of orders which creates a feeling of independence on the part of manufacturers and removes the spirit of competition which tends to restrain price increases.

The shenanigan practiced in some cities of placing new automobiles on sale as "used cars," at a substantial increase over the list price of new ones, serves as an example of the eagerness of some people to get a car, regardless of price.

Wage increases and resultant higher material costs are presented as causes for price raises, not only in the automotive field but also in other commodities, and the whole trend is toward further inflation of the economic bubble which has already become dangerously large.

Unless there is an adjustment of incomes all along the line to meet the situation created by reduced purchasing power of the dollar, the minority that is now appearing to benefit by high wages, high prices and high profits can scarcely expect to escape the disastrous effects of such a depression as was being moved toward at this period of the year 1929.

Forecasts Sometimes Go Awry

THE POLITICAL forecaster who was once Jim Farley's right-hand man predicts a Republican victory in 1948. This is Emil Hurja of Crystal Falls, Mich., who some time ago shed his Democratic affiliations and now is a registered Republican. His prophecy, which has been made by a good many other persons, is based on an examination of ten counties all over the United States from New Hampshire to Wyoming. These, he says, year in and year out, vote the way the nation does.

Republicans hoping for the success of their party will be momentarily gratified at Hurja's prophecy. They may be alarmed, however, when they reflect that Hurja, with equal positiveness, forecast the overwhelming election of Willkie in 1940 and Dewey in 1944. He has not explained why his system went wrong.

The answer probably is that no simple formula exists which can regularly foretell the outcome of a presidential election. The best results are still obtained from the laborious state-by-state examinations of trained political reporters.

A writer in the Christian Science Monitor quotes a husband as saying to his wife: "We should have saved during the depression so we could live through this prosperity."

Viewing the National Scene

An Irritating Reminder

By THOMAS L. STOKES

PHILADELPHIA — There is an unseen guest at this Republican convention who is proving quite irritating.

He is especially annoying because Republicans were sure not so long ago that this particular ghost had been laid and could not possibly rise up to haunt them.

This irritating specter is the man in the White House over in Washington. He caused the trouble by taking a trip about the country and telling the people about the 80th Congress managed and directed by Republicans.

Harry Truman made the 80th Congress news. Consequently, since it is news, Republican candidates for the nomination found themselves confronted here with questions about the 80th Congress during those numerous press conferences that are held, one after another, at national conventions.

It was a discordant note, for such press conferences are not supposed to be for such purposes at all, but to promote the candidacies of the aspirants, to make claims, and show themselves to best advantage.

Nor was it any help to Republicans that the front page stories of the opening of their convention, which should be a jolly sort of affair divorced from such realities, were overshadowed by the stories of the wallow of confusion in which their Congress finally wound up its work and the slapdash way they compromised and patched up vital legislation just to get something on the books.

* * *

Will Repeat Pledges

WHILE Republicans have tried to scoff at the President's telling-the-country-about-Congress tour and say that he should better have stayed at home and tended to his business, the hectic wind-up of Congress, with so many things left undone, has very nearly proved everything he said.

He could have done nothing by remaining in Washington because it is the Republicans' Congress, not his. The Republicans told him that in action after action refuting measures for which he stood.

All he could do, in such a case, was to tell the people it is their Congress, too, though lots of people in Congress seem to forget that.

Among others, it was somewhat embarrassing for Governor Dewey of New York, who has nothing to do with Congress, to be put on the pan about Congress and its record almost at the very start of the monster press conference he held on his arrival, though it must be said he carried it off with his usual eclat.

It is clear from what goes on here that Harry Truman has done something for the Republican party and the country, however he may fare personally in November.

For one thing, he has strengthened the hands of the element in the Republican party which favors strong international cooperation.

This element finally won its battle for adequate ERP appropriations in Congress, against considerable odds, so that the leaders here now can take that as the record and go on from there in the platform, despite the still potent 'nationalist" wing.

For another, the President strengthened the hands of Republican party progressives who are in favor of social welfare measures by pointing out the failures of the 80th Congress in this field.

This seems to assure strong pledges on this field in the platform, even though it can do little more than repeat platform pledges of 1944 that have not been carried out.

Philosophy For Bald Heads

No man can afford to make quips about baldheaded fellows unless, perchance, he's safely into old age and still wearing a full head of hair. Up to that time there's always the possibility that he will one day find his own locks falling out and think the loss not at all a matter for facetious comment.

So most of us males should heed soberly without the least sign of amusement, what a Miss J. V. Sheppard has written about baldness in the Health magazine of the American Medical association. Miss Sheppard contends that hair has little practical value.

She goes on to describe it almost disparagingly as a limp, vegetable growth that apparently draws no nourishment from the body. While conceding that some men may not view a shiny pate as contributing to good looks, Miss Sheppard recommends a "new phil-osophy" of baldness in which men think no more of how it makes them appear.

We leave it to the more philosophical of the baldheaded gentry to take up Miss Sheppard's idea from there --Kansas City Times.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Keynote Speech In Highly Moral Tone

PHILADELPHIA — Governor Dwight Green's definition of the objectives of government — character, influence, happiness — in his keynote speech was, as he said, based on the philosophy of "a great American spiritual leader."

That leader was Henry Churchill King, a professor of philosophy and president of Oberlin college for many years. He was truly a great leader, as a whole generation of Oberlin students came to know.

The book in which his basic ethical principles were best portrayed was "Rational Living," a volume widely known in educational circles 40 years ago.

In his lifetime, King a Congregational minister, lectured throughout the country. He was a man of intense moral fervor. This writer, then a student at Oberlin, can well remember King's notable baccalaureate sermons in the period of the first World war. King argued with a singular earnestness for a better peace and for world influence on the part of the United States.

It is of interest to note that Governor Green's alma mater, the University of Illinois, gave King an honorary degree and that the present Chancellor of the University of Chicago, R. M. Hutchins, was a student at Oberlin. The elder Hutchins was a colleague of King on the faculty at Oberlin.

* * *

Pursuit of Happiness.

GREEN'S adaptation of King's principles in terms of the nation, the government and the party, was conceived on the basis of the insistent demands of contemporary life as well as sound political science.

The selection of public "happiness" as a basic objective of government is in the best classic tradition. Jefferson pointed it up in the Declaration of Independence as "the pursuit of happiness." Nearly a hundred years before, John Locke in justifying the English revolution of 1688, had stated the citizen's rights as life, liberty and property. Jefferson, following Aristotle, substituted "happiness" for "property."

The foreign affairs section of Green's speech is an expression of foreign policy designed to unite the Midwestern and Eastern wings of the party.

It is absurd to say, as some internationalists are saying, that there is a real rift in the party on foreign affairs.

The fact is that Green's statement meets the full approval of Dewey and of John Foster Dulles, who is a major figure in the bipartisan activities of the past four years. The gap, if there has been a gap, has been bridged, and Green's statement is the middle ground.

Green, because of his speech, and the Illinois delegation, because of its size and mobility, may be a tremendous factor in the balloting. It would not be strange to see a Dewey-Green ticket emerge. There is both logic and practical politics in the combination.

Taft is well liked in Illinois, but the leaders in Chicago believe the county ticket would be more adequately helped by Dewey — and especially by a Dewey-Green combination.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Republicans Vision Impending Triumph

By DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA — The sweet smell of victory is in the Republican nostrils. Delegates are flushed with the air of impending triumph. The White House and 1,000,000 or so jobs seem just around the corner. They can almost stretch out their hands and touch the treasury department. And they can hardly wait.

The tension is something terrific. The City of Brotherly Love is seething with excitement. It's the liveliest convention the Republicans have staged in three decades.

And if it were up to the 3,050 delegates, alternates and others assembled here, they'd vote right now to dispense with all the keynote speeches, yards and yards of old-fashioned oratory, and get right down to the job of nominating the candidate. They are on pins and needles waiting for the first balloting to get started tonight.

* * *

Salty Carroll Reece.

MEANWHILE the backstage fireworks have been popping. Salty GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece is a chivalrous southerner, but he lost his temper with a lady during the battle over Georgia.

The Taft-Dewey forces were arguing hot and heavy over which of the Georgia delegations would be seated. Reece, supposed to be neutral chairman, but openly a Taft man, vociferated that the Taft delegates were qualified. Col. R. B. Creager of Texas backed him up.

Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, Michigan's gracious national committeewoman and secretary of the GOP national committee, didn't agree. She made a speech favoring Dewey.

Whereupon Reece hit the ceiling charged the Dewey forces were trying to browbeat the national committee, claimed Dewey people had threatened him in his office. If he hadn't known how to control his temper, proclaimed Reece, who comes from the Tennessee mountains, he would have pulled a gun on the Deweyite.

When the vote, 48 to 44, showed Dewey the victor, Reece proceeded to bawl out Mrs. Hay, said he was going to try to defeat Mrs. Hay for re-election as national committeewoman from Michigan.

"Don't worry Mr. Reece," sweetly retorted Mrs. Hay, "when this convention is over you won't be national chairman."

* * *

Broken Wartime Promises.

FOUR YEARS ago this convention met in an atmosphere of unreality. The greatest invasion army in all history had crossed the Englisch Channel 21 days before, stormed up the coast of France.

Across another ocean, the U. S. Navy was edging closer to Japan. Even the Chicago hotels in which the Republicans met were haunted by the ghosts of air force trainees who had lived there a few months before.

There were those who had said Franklin Roosevelt would never hold an election in wartime, that the U. S. A. would simulate the dictatorships it was trying to defeat.

But despite the sombre atmosphere, the conventions and the elections were held.

Today—three short years after the war's end—the old-time political vaudeville is back. The war is pretty much forgotten. The promises of new homes for veterans made so glibly when the boys were overseas, have been sidetracked by one triumphant wing of the Republican party. Post-war profits are zooming, also prices and inflation. Income, especially for white-collar workers and lower-bracket groups, is proportionately down.

A lot of wartime promises have been forgotten.

* * *

One GOP Lesson.

BUT not forgotten is one all-important lesson learned by the majority of the party — namely that the U. S. A. cannot live alone.

In 1940 on the eve of the Republican convention, Arthur Vandenberg denounced President Roosevelt's action of putting American military supplies at the disposal of England and France. Next day Thomas E. Dewey criticized FDR's "stab in the back" speech against Mussolini after he invaded stricken France.

Today at Philadelphia is Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge jr., chairman of the GOP platform committee. He is the grandson of the Massachusetts senator who defeated Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations. Young Senator Lodge, however, no more thinks like his grandfather than his grandfather thought of flying the Atlantic.

Appearing before young Lodge's platform committee the other day was a Cleveland lawyer, John Putnam, with what the elder Lodge would have called a revolutionary proposal. With his was Nat Howard, editor of the Cleveland News.

Neither are crackpots. Both represent strong, conservative interests. They proposed that the Republican party go on record in favor of planting the seeds of world government. Specifically, they proposed a formula for world law and world law enforcement.

Their idea, put forward by a group of Cleveland businessmen, educators and others calling themselves "Workers for World Security," would make old Henry Cabot Lodge turn over in his austere grave.

However, 300,000 people have signed their petition endorsing the broad principles of world government, and young Senator Lodge, listening gravely to the plan, didn't seem to consider it revolutionary.

That is the biggest change that has occurred among the top leaders of the Republican party. It is still a point of big controversy with the John Taber - Chicago Tribune wing of the party. And it is the point which the American people will be watching most, not only now but on election day. They do not want war again.

Waiting For Elevators

By KENNETH L. DIXON

PHILADELPHIA — Sometimes it takes you nearly half an hour to get on an elevator.

When you lump together all the huge, jammed, seething, dramatic factors which add up to the 1948 Republican convention, the sum total is more than slightly staggering. It's a little hard to visualize—even when you're on the spot.

It's only when it's translated into such practical situations as the aforementioned wait for elevators in almost every hotel and important (to the convention) building in town that the size and spread of the quadriennial extravaganza begins to come home to you.

Curiously, such little things as the elevator situation could well have an important effect on the country as a whole—that is, in the selection of the party standard-bearers.

For example, in the lobby of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, which serves as party headquarters, there are many times through the day when it literally takes half an hour or so to get on one of the elevators. The crowds jam and push and shove, often unable to believe that the persons in front of them also are waiting for an elevator.

Naturally, many of them whose business somewhere upstairs was not too important often give up the attempt—and you can imagine what effect that would have on the convention campaign of some G. O. P. hopeful whose headquarters happened to be located above the first or second floors. People will walk up only so many flights, even to talk to a potential president.

One of the leading candidates for the top spot on the Republican ticket suddenly found himself almost ostracized a couple of days ago. Not only were the visiting delegates staying away in droves, but also the press and radio people—busy enough as it was—were less inclined to sweat out a long wait at the elevators, just to come up to his suite of rooms for interviews.

Quickly he got a special elevator assigned to handling his individual stream of visitors, and managed to pass the word around. As of now, he figures he's still in the race, but it was a close shave.

* * *

Millions of Words.

SPEAKING of the press and radio people, there again you can get a hint as to the hugeness of this business of picking a party's presidential candidate.

There are some 1,200 newspapermen, writing an estimated three million words daily. More than 750 radio men are pouring at least that many words out over the air from Philadelphia each day.

When you add the television crowd, it becomes apparent that providing the food, housing, transportation and communication facilities for the news-gathering gang alone is a major problem.

Actually the convention, while in session, operates much as though a smaller itinerant city had been set down in the middle of Philadelphia. It has its own telephone system, its own post office, its own telegraphic set-up, its own police and fire departments and its own hospital.

The population of this temporary city - within - a - city has been variously estimated by the experts as from 50,000 to 75,000 and upwards.

Nobody seems to know exactly how much food is being consumed by the hungry delegates and convention visitors, but their regular meals are being augmented by more than 15,000 hot dogs daily, according to the concession firm in charge.

As for the liquor being drunk —well, maybe it's better not to go into that. Somebody might think this was Democratic party propaganda!

Washington Calling

Something New Added

By MARQUIS CHILDS

PHILADELPHIA—Eight years ago another Republican convention met here in Philadelphia. So much has happened in that brief space of time, and yet the Republican party has been remarkably sheltered from the winds of change.

The same men are in key positions of control. In many instances they have the same idea they held in 1940. They are a little grayer, a little heavier, but otherwise they are miraculously unchanged.

The candidates, with the addition of Harold Stassen, are the same. Governor Dewey, Senator Taft and Vandenberg were contending in 1940 as they are in 1948.

Two men are missing this time. One is Wendell Willkie, the dynamic figure who charged that earlier convention with an intense kind of excitement that left the cautious managers powerless.

The other is Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose presence hung over the earlier gathering like a mocking cloud. Today the chances for victory seem so great that they could not possibly be thrown away. That is the something new that has been added.

As in 1940, two hostile wings of the party confront each other across the gulf of foreign policy. One, the nationalist wing, talks of keeping America strong and isolated, of keeping out foreigners and foreign influences. The other wing, which has grown greatly in eight years, is conscious of America's world position and world responsibility.

There was just a possibility that the issue between these two so widely separated factions might have been drawn in open battle here at the convention. It could have come if at the last minute Senator Vandenberg had been willing to lead the faction he speaks for in Congress.

The opportunity was put up to him on the eve of the convention. He was urged to issue a personal statement declaring for the principle of world cooperation and world reconstruction to bring peace and stability.

Such a statement would inevitably have made Vandenberg an active candidate for the nomination. He would have come to Philadelphia as the champion of the forces in the party and the convention that believe in the need for America's positive leadership.

* * *

Continues "Available."

AFTER two soul-searching hours, in the midst of the turbulent last day of Congress, Vandenberg said no. History may have a great deal to say about the reasons for that decision—in terms of past, his approach to life.

Instead of the statement read to Vandenberg on the telephone, it was agreed that Michigan's Governor Sigler should put out a release stating, as he had said several times before, that he knew Vandenberg was "available."

The result, it seems to me, is likely to be compromise. The convention will try to square the circle—to reconcile the irreconcilable—just as Congress did in the closing hours.

Vital legislation — the draft, money for ERP—had the narrowest squeak.

Governor Green of Illinois in his keynote address sounded the isolationist-nationalist theme. The foreign affairs plank in the platform will take the international line.

To have fought the issue out might have rended the party. The internationalists can point to definitive and positive gains over 1940. So the world does not stand still and all the blood, sweat, toil, tears and treasure spent in the intervening time may not have been entirely in vain.

DATE BOOK SHINES WITH WESTBROOK'S JULY NOTES

Week End of the Fourth Gets Off With a 'Bang' With Fireworks Sunday at Country Club.

ONE of the busiest groups in town includes the members of Westbrook Country club who are not content with holding the regular activities but are always striving for the unusual in the way of entertainment.

The month of July promises to be an active one with the week end of the Fourth full of variety. On Saturday, July 3, there will be a stag golf sweepstakes in the afternoon and in the evening a dinner dance. A buffet supper will be served from 7 to 9:30 p. m. with dancing from 9:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. Ray Cincione's orchestra from Columbus will furnish the music. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stander are to be hosts for this affair.

On Sunday, July 4, there will be a flag tournament for men and a tennis match at 2:30 p. m. between Westbrook and Woodland. Free snacks are scheduled for 3 p. m. That evening at 9 p. m. there will be fireworks for young and old. Hosts for the day are J. M. Slattery and H. B. Soulen.

Continuing the Fourth of July celebration on Monday members will have mixed golf in the afternoon. But highlighting the day will be the party at 2:30 p. m. for members' children of elementary school age or younger. The hosts will be Mrs. John Catlett, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beddard and Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Weir.

Flower Shows Held Here By Garden Clubs

Linnaeus Garden Club members entertained friends and members of the Agnes Paulsen Garden Club Tuesday afternoon with a delightful flower show and tea at the home of Mrs. A. G. Earnshaw, Stewart Lane. Twenty-five guests were in attendance.

A variety of arrangements, numbering 50, were shown throughout the home. Exhibits were also entered by members of the Agnes Paulsen Club which is sponsored by the Linnaeus group. The mantel was lovely with an arrangement of blue delphinium in a white container.

When refreshments were served the table was dainty with pastel appointments. Mrs. W. B. Linn, club president, poured.

The program was opened with a skit given by Mrs. Charles Chew and Mrs. Paulsen, who closed the act with a demonstration of an unusual arrangement. Mrs. L. S. Barr showed colored slides and movies on the Tulip Festival held each year in Holland, Mich., the Detroit flower show, the herb gardens at Greenfield, Mich., the Walter Bellingrath gardens in Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. M. T. Brinkerhoff will be hostess ao the club at her home, Penn avenue, July 13 for a luncheon.

The Charles Nail home, 730 Woodhill road, was the scene of the lovely flower show last week given by members of the Mansfield Garden Club. Mrs. Joseph Lare was general chairman of the show which was attended by 55 members and later by guests from four Mansfield Garden clubs.

Luncheon was served at noon to the members, after which the group viewed the many exhibits made by the members, who also brought specimen blooms.

Mrs. McLean of Wilmoth, Ill., mother of Mrs. Nail, and Mrs. C. I. Weaver of Springfield, Ohio, and daughter, Mrs. S. Harris of Rochester, Minn., were the out-of-town guests.

Presiding at the luncheon table were Mrs. McLean and Mrs. William Bowers.

Ruth Trainer Wed June 20 To Mr. Goettle

An original colonial period bridal satin gown was chosen by Miss Ruth Aldine Trainer for her wedding, June 20. It was made with a fitting bodice, a high neckline and a pointed bertha collar trimmed with imported embroidery lace. Self-covered buttons were down the front to the waist and the skirt fell into a long flowing train. The bride wore a Dutch cap of imported embroidery lace with pearl trim which held in place the silk illusion hand rolled veil.

The nuptial vows of Miss Trainer and Robert Goettle were spoken before an altar banked with two large beauty baskets of white gladiola, huckleberry, ferns and palms. Two seven branch candelabra lighted the scene. The Rev. Frank W. Stanton read the ceremony in the First Baptist church, Fredericktown, at 2:30 p. m. Miss Trainer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Trainer, 88 Taylor street, Fredericktown, and Mr. Goettle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Goettle, 693 Maple street.

Miss Mary Jane Schaeffer provided the organ music and Ronald Fisher was the soloist for the ceremony.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ralph Huff, friend of the bride, of Fredericktown, wore a yellow taffeta princess style gown trimmed in lace. She had a yellow headpiece and mitts of lace to match the gown. Miss Eleanor Goettle, bridesmaid, sister of the groom, was dressed like the matron of honor, in pink. Miss Audra Laribee of Butler, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a blue taffeta dress with a tiered skirt. The attendants had arm bouquets of pink and white carnations tied with streamers. The flower girl carried a basket with rose petals which she scattered before the bride.

Mrs. Trainer wore a black and white print dress with black accessories. Mrs. Goettle chose a pale green and black print dress with black accessories for her son's wedding. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

Ralph Huff, Fredericktown, friend of the groom, and Johnny Konves, cousin of the groom, ushered the guests to their pews.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Masonic hall in Fredericktown. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom. The cake was decorated with pink rose buds. Beauty baskets filled with white gladiolas were placed throughout the room.

The new Mrs. Goettle wore a light pink Panama suit, with white accessories and an orchid for her going away costume. Their honeymoon will be through Canada and the New England states. After July 5th they will be at home at 88 Taylor street, Fredericktown.

Mrs. Goettle graduated from Fredericktown high school and was employed as a payroll clerk at Westinghouse Electric corporation at the time of her marriage. Mr. Goettle attended Mansfield schools before entering the service. He is employed at Verterons Heating company at Bellville.

HAYRIDE PARTY

NOTES ON AN ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

No doubt about it—radio (although I believe it's here to stay) certainly has a devastating effect on the minds and mores of our American young. Nowadays, children seldom pretend to be old-hat characters like Robin Hood and Sherlock Holmes. When they're indulging in their games of make-believe derring-do, members of the sandpile set are much more likely to imagine themselves as the modern, network versions of the Messrs. Hood and Holmes: i.e., the Lone Ranger and Boston Blackie.

But even the most subtle nuances of radio don't escape the alert observation of our moppets. I'd like to offer in evidence an incident reported by an acquaintance of mine, who saw it with her own eyes and heard it with her own radio-sharpened ears.

Over on West 42nd street, she tells me, there's a certain small shop that sells Indian (Navajo, not Nepal variety) jewelry and trinkets. To attract attention to the shop, its manager recently hired a respectable-looking young fellow to stalk up and down outside, splendidly decked out in full redskin regalia — complete with feathered war bonnet, buckskin pants, and a haughty sneer On the afternoon in question, the facsimile Indian had evidently gotten ants in his moccasins, because he had wandered nearly a block away from the trinket store.

As he trotted aimlessly back and forth, chewing gum and communing with nature, a mother and child passed him by. The child was a golden-haired angel of six or so, as pink and white and delectable as a strawberry-vanilla sundae. As they spotted the brave, both mother and daughter stopped in surprise. The sight of a lone, vagrant Indian, apparently without destination or reason for being there, startled them both.

It was the mother, finally, who broke the silence. "Will you look at that, honey," she said. "Now what do you suppose that Indian is doing, roaming around like that?"

"Why, mommy, it's perfectly obvious," piped up her enlightened enfant terrible "He's looking for a sponsor!"

If I were Louis Bromfield or any other lover of the country soil, I'd be a little fretful over the current metropolitan trend in movie titles. I can think offhand of at least three current flickers—"Open City," "Naked City," and "Big City"—which contain references to cities right in the title, and I understand there are a few more movies of this ilk waiting around to be released.

This growing preoccupation with city life indicates only one thing to me That history is repeating itself, backward. Remember the back-to-the-soil movement of the depression years? Well this smacks of a back-to-the-concrete movement. Tsk, tsk, movie men—haven't you heard about the city apartment shortages?

One of the hatcheck girls at the Royal Roost has a novel approach to the fulfillment of her big ambition. A student of journalism and an avid hater of all things jazz, Mickey Ellis applied for a job at the "bop" palace and got it. (No one else could stand the din.) Now she's compiling notes for her new book and is looking forward to the time when she can go through an entire 24 hours without having to listen to "bop." Even cotton-stuffed ears don't help, she has discovered.

Oh, yes! Mickey intends to call her book, "Why I Hate Bop."

I cornered Edmund Mori at his Manhasset, L. I., restaurant the other night and got him talking about the old Mori's on Blecker street which opened in 1883 and played a 55-year run under Mama and Papa Mori until its closing in 1938. Edmund fondly recalled that General Pershing's favorite dish there was Supreme of Sole Marguery; that Fritz Kreisler preferred two orders of Soft Shell Crabs Mariniere; and that Mark Hellinger (who married Gladys Glad in the Actors' Garden at Mori's) always poured two glasses of dry sherry into his consome—which Edmund thinks is a highly civilized and commendable custom.

* * *

Another Broadwyy landmark is coming down—the Actors church which has been a part of 48th street since 1894. Gene Leone has owned the profitless property for years, but wouldn't think of razing the church, which was once a theatre until the city condemned it as a firetrap.

The Actors church served its last good purpose during the war when the theatre dressing rooms, which had been closed off for forty years, were rented out to G.I.'s on pass as bedrooms. A new building will be constructed on the property—an extension to Leone's restaurant which already covers another historic spot, the site of the old Burlesque club.

But Leone's is no modern giant killing off the old charm of Broadway. It's been around since 1906, and past its dining tables stalk memories of gay evenings with Will Rogers, Caruso, W. C. Fields, William S. Hart, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jim Crowley, Jimmy Walker, Al Smith, George M. Cohan, O. O. McIntyre, Mack Sennett and hundreds of famous names from a more golden era.

for Thursday, June 24
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

UNDER an assertive and well-thought-out policy of direct action, based upon practical and soundly developed techniques, it may be that exceptional advancement or surprising accomplishment will prove gratifying and bring more than ample returns. Tact, diplomacy, sagacity and shrewd planning, in which there may be prudent use of the personal or social element, might bring about brilliant achievement. It is possible that domestic or romantic influence may have weight. Do not complicate matters by confused or rash thinking.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may have opportunity to demonstrate their sagacity, acumen and personal influence in putting over projects of more than passing consequence. But they must take time carefully to study, and execute well-thought-out programs and not make false motions under hasty or confused ideas or flighty suggestions. The mind may not be entirely clear in its decisions. It might be effective to fall back on the element of personality, social advantage or prestige, as well as the magic of elusive charm, if discreetly brought into the menaced or beclouded picture.

A child born on this day, while energetic, progressive and enthusiastic, might find these qualities supplemented or enhanced by a charming and impressive personality.

Danish Speaker Says America Sets Example

"The only solution for the problems of the European countries is a United States of Europe which your country has shown is possible," Erik Frandsen, Odense, Denmark, told Mansfield Rotary club members at their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday. He spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Your country has set an amazing example for the other countries of the world in your ability as people of all races to live so well together," he said.

"America offers possibilities and opportunities that no other country can offer its people," he added.

Frandsen is general manager of the A. Classen Smidth Electrical company in Odense and is former commander in chief of the Air Operations and Supply Danish Resistance forces which fought the Nazi party, through sabotage, during the war.

He described his country and its industrial and agricultural activities to the Rotary club members and told them of the Danish conception of democracy.

Among the democratic activities being practiced in Denmark are free milk, daily, to school children; free medical care for everyone, and an educational program striving to teach the Danish children to "know something of everything and everything of something."

Millard H. Pryor, Rotary club president, presided at the noon luncheon meeting and C. G. Hillier served as program chairman.

There are an estimated 3,000,000 habitual golfers in the United States.

Hidden Hollow Opens 3-Day Training For Leaders Today

Eight women counselors and four men leaders, including Mike Wentz, physical director of the Friendly House, reported to Hidden Hollow camp this morning for a preliminary training session before the opening of camp on Sunday.

The eight who will have charge of the girls and general camp classes include Irene Hoffman, Ilene Hoffman, Miss Frances Wolfe of Ashland, Dorothy Aubrey, Shirley Szariki, Joan Beer, Sarah Weltmer of Perrysville and Barbara Bourgeois of Shelby. The three boys' counselors in addition to Wentz are Douglas Black, Darwin Thatcher and Robert Hempfield.

During the three-day training period preceding the camp opening Sunday, round table discussions will be held on "Responsibilities of a Counselor," "Camp Policies," "Health" and "Counseling Techniques."

Special sessions on handicraft, games, featured programs and a course in archery will be given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. John Finefrock jr.

The camp also will be placed in readiness for the opening Sunday. Physical examinations will be held at the Friendly House Friday beginning at 9:30 a. m. under supervision of the health department.

To date 379 boys and girls have registered for the entire camping season of eight weeks.

It is estimated that more than half a million people die in the U. S. every year from causes brought on by high blood pressure.

Grandfather Looks Forward To Canoe Trip to Canada

Walter Davison, 67, 61 Douglas avenue, is anxiously waiting for the Canadian canoe trip to Lake Temagami sponsored by the Mansfield YMCA to get under way.

Davison will accompany his grandson, Charles, 14, 60 Wise avenue, on the trip, which is being held for father and sons in the area. It will be his first trip to Canada and he is looking forward to a lot of fishing.

Fishing has been his hobby for seven years and he just can't seem to get enough of it. He and Charles spend every Sunday of the summer fishing at Sandusky in Lake Erie and though he doesn't always catch any fish he loves it just the same.

A native of England, Davison came to Mansfield 20 years ago and is in business for himself as a bricklayer. For several weeks he has made an extensive collection and study of maps, pictures and travel folders of the Canadian country.

Other Mansfield father and sons preparing for the trip are: Irl Fisher and his son, James, 1493 Park avenue west; Dr. Dwight Weir and son, Tommy, 143 Parkwood boulevard, and Champe Stoakes and son, Bill, Columbus.

The canoe party will leave Mansfield by automobile Aug. 20 and will return on Sept. 2. The younger boys, their fathers and Davison will remain at the North Woods camp, which will serve as their base camp, while the older boys and the YMCA leaders follow the canoe trails up the Canadian lakes.

Permission To Move Poles Granted

The American Telephone and Telegraph company has been granted permission by the city board of education to place three poles carrying its lines on school property along Trimble road.

The company asked for permission as a result of the building of the new Trimble road bridge which changed the road line. Otherwise, the company pointed out the poles would be in the road ditch.

Pointed Remarks By Clare Luce Recall Her Victory Over New Deal

PHILADELPHIA—Clare Boothe Luce, the peachy wench who lured Moosejaw the First into Connecticut in the presidential campaign of 1944 and beat him single-handed, beat Roosevelt, Henry Wallace and Clifton (Killer) Fadiman, the bull butterfly of the literary teas—Clare came back to the brawls in the opening night of this year's convention to mock them all in rippling prose with trout-hooks in the ripples.

Mrs. Luce was a candidate for her own seat in Congress four years ago come now and whoever says that Roosevelt hated her will have to admit that she hated him at least as well and to better effect.

Roosevelt, Wallace and the communists had scouted a shelawyer to carry the target for them and the CIO and Bubblehead Wallace set forth through Clare's district on foot like a political Johnny Appleseed thumbing hitches and pushing doorbells. Wallace had not yet been publicly harnessed to his guru, Nick Roerich, the joss-house Mahatma, and Roosevelt, and the Democratic national committee were not yet put to the need of treating him as a political prodigy who ought to be in Harvard—in a bottle.

Henry went drooling up and down Fairfield county, Conn., pausing wherever he found three munitioneers waiting for a bus to wipe away the slobber with the back of his hand, shake his bang and launch forth, "My friends—!" In Chicago, Roosevelt, and Sidney Hillman, had turned Wallace down for renomination for vice president and drawn the unoffending Harry Truman out of a leather bottle filched from a poolroom. Returning to New York, Henry had been assigned a pair of flycops from police headquarters to flank him on his wanderings and Bubblehead had suddenly flung out his arms and sent them floundering in one surprising lunge, and fled thdough crowded streets with startled civilians yelling "stop!" And himself in danger of being shot for a thief by harness cops.

The vice-president of the United States, the one Roosevelt had selected by phone to Madam Frances Perkins in Chicago in 1940, then dived into the subway and disappeared to be rounded up again by another detail of detectives as he poked his head out of the kiosk in Harlem.

They knew they had a wild man for vice president when that mad day was over.

Now, formally repudiated by Roosevelt, Bubblehead went to Connecticut to beat Clare Luce and Roosevelt, himself, en route to Boston to profane the name and friendship of Al Smith before the Irish, stopped off to tip the scales against the girl who had everything. He made his speech and Republican headquarters telephoned la Luce and offered her anyone she wanted, up to Dewey, himself to come over the hills and help.

★

She shook them off. She would lick him herself and she did and, incidentally, with the back of her hand, she knocked over Fadiman, a noncombatant commando who had said he was going to wring the pretty neck of chivalry in Clare's home district. He wrung the necks of no nazis, incidentally, as Mrs. Luce never forgot to say, and when the votes were counted, she had licked the New Deal's first team and a lot of the scrub as well. It was a triumph personal and political.

Governor Steps In To Save Escaper

Maryland Refuses to Permit Return to OSR

Maryland's Governor William P. Lane jr. today refused to send a 32-year-old war veteran back to the Mansfield reformatory 12 years.

Harlan G. Harmon, sentenced from Summit county (Akron) to one to 20 years for auto theft, escaped from the reformatory's Grafton honor farm in 1936. He is the father of four children.

Harlan, who runs a small grocery store just outside Cumberland, Md., was arrested June 2 at the request of West Virginia authorities in connection with a motor vehicle law violation. OSR Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said the state was seeking his return to Ohio.

Governor Lane ordered Harmon to appear at the attorney general's office in Annapolis for a hearing yesterday. The governor spoke to Harmon personally following the hearing and said he thought returning him to Ohio would "work an undue and unreasonable hardship on him, his wife and four minor children."

Driver Cited After Crash

Maurice C. Stanchfield, 20, 376 Fifth avenue, was cited to traffic court today on a charge of unsafe operation. He was involved in a three-car collision at 4:25 p. m. yesterday on Ashland road.

Police said Stanchfield suffered nose and face injuries when his car collided with one in front of him driven by Thomas Dickerson of Bellville.

The impact forced Dickerson's auto to bump into the rear of a car driven by Carl L. Davis, 976 Grace street.

The accident, officers said, occurred just east of the underpass on Park avenue east. Stanchfield's injuries were treated at General hospital.

Youth Leaves For National Hi-Y Congress

Philip Bolin, 16, will leave tomorrow to attend the fifth annual National Hi-Y congress, at Miami university, Oxford. He will represent the 10th district Hi-Y council. He was elected last April at Wooster, as the delegate to the convention and as president of the district council. He is the son of Mr and Mrs. Roger H. Bolin, 635 Manchester road.

Bolin

Young Bolin will be one of the 1,000 high school boys chosen to represent 11,000 members of the Hi-Y clubs and 300,000 high school boys and girls in the United States at the national congress, June 25-30.

Representatives will discuss problems high school youths are facing today and determine their responsibilities in dealing with these problems as Christian young people.

Among the problems listed for consideration are family problems, boy and girl relationships, liquor, racial and religious tensions and world affairs.

Six nurses employed at Mansfield General hospital, three of them trained at the hospital, were among 601 successful candidates for the state nurses' board examination announced today.

The new registered nurses include: Miss Betty Mae Geiger, Jromesville; Mrs. Mildred Eileen Young Westbrook, Greenwich, and Miss Eleanor Anne Wheatley, 184 McElroys road, all trained at General hospital.

Also successful in the examination were three nurses trained at Ashland Samaritan hospital. They are: Miss Miriam Ruth Gebhart, South Broad street, Ashland; Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stauffer Sloan, 208 West Walnut street, Ashland, and Miss Norma Genevieve Wells, 1218 Meyers avenue.

Miss Gebhart is now employed at the Cincinnati General hospital. Both Mrs. Sloan and Miss Wells have taken positions in Ashland doctors' offices.

Death Claims J. L. Mitten

James Louis Mitten, 79, of 215 South Main street, died yesterday at People's hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Mitten was born in Upper Sandusky, Dec. 29, 1868. He came to Mansfield 40 years ago and worked as a barber in several shops.

Surviving are his wife, Pearl, and a sister, Mrs. Clement Myers, both of Mansfield.

Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church will conduct services at the Wappner funeral home at 1 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Youth Reported Unhurt In Crash

Edward A. Shaw, Shelby, reported to sheriff's deputies last night that he struck a boy on a bike while driving on State Route 39.

Shaw told deputies the youth gave his name only as "Lehman" and said he was uninjured in his spill in a ditch. Shaw said there were no lights on the bike. Shaw took the boy to his home

TIPS FOR BICYCLISTS—Summer is bicycling time and the Bicycle Institute of America thinks devotees of the sport should know more about the proper methods of "wheeling." Miss Kathleen Nethero, 332 West Fifth street, here uses her bicycle to illustrate some of the suggestions. Left: Knees should be kept close to the frame. It is more graceful and permits much more efficiency in riding. Inset: To ride properly and with least effort, the ball of the foot should be on the pedal, not the instep or the heel. Third from left: Handle bars are right and the seat adjusted properly when the rider leans slightly forward as the hands grip the handlebars. Right: Pedal pushers are suggested as ideal for town riding. Other suggestions of the institute include: (1) The seat is at the right height when, with leg straight and pedal at "6 o'clock," the heel is on the pedal. (2) Don't try to "pump up" steep hills; it takes more effort than it is worth. Dismount and walk up unless you have a bicycle which can be shifted into low.—(N-J photos)

Chorus Sings Before Another Big Crowd

Mansfield's Mastersingers completed their second full season in a blaze of glory last night with a concert before a full house in John Simpson auditorium and an after-concert reception at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The concert was the second of two early summer programs presented by the chorus. The Monday night program drew a near-capacity house.

It was hot in the auditorium last night and listeners fanned themselves and sought heat relief outdoors at intermission time, but the sweltering night didn't dampen the crowd's enthusiasm.

The audience wanted more encores than the cohrus had in its repertoire so the singers repeated "Ol' Man River" and "The Lord's Prayer." The other encore was "I Got a Robe," a spiritual.

Guest Singer Marshall Heinbaugh competed successfully with a thunderstorm in his group of solos, his robust voice reaching every corner of the auditorium despite the booming from the skies. After the shower, he sang a timely encore—"Didn't It Rain?"

BENEFIT CONCERT NEXT

The men's chorus, directed by A. LeMoine Derr, will give a concert in Simpson auditorium Aug. 23 to provide funds for the singers' trip to Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., late in August when they will appear on the Chautauqua program. The Mansfield audience will hear the same program here that will be presented at Chautauqua.

Chorus officials have sent 2,000 reservation cards to regular Mastersinger patrons who will get first chance at tickets for the special August concert. Patrons were asked to turn in reservation to the C. of C. this week. Among other things, the benefit concert funds will help buy new coats for the singers to wear at Chautauqua.

Prof. William C. Craig of the speech department at Wooster college, entertained about 150 chorus members and guests at the reception last night with a humorous talk on "Why We Laugh."

We laugh, he said, because of the joy that comes from destruction and pleasant disappointments, the unusual in a usual situation, the usual in an unusual situation, and because of a feeling of superiority.

Charles Freehafer, president of the Mastersingers, praised the men in the organization for their work. Lowell Bourns, was master of ceremonies. Derr and Dr. F. A. Hoffman, chorus accompanist, spoke briefly. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Pluck Dies at 45

Mrs. Helen Louise Johnson Pluck, 45, wife of Nicholas A. Pluck of 240 Parkway drive, died in Mansfield General hospital yesterday following a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Pluck, the daughter of Charles H. and Viola Wildman Johnson, was born in Shelby, August 7, 1902. She had lived in Mansfield all her life.

She was an active member of the First Methodist church and a member of the Bartley avenue bridge club.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Howard Shaull of Scott street; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Johnson of Shelby; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Benedict of Shelby and Mrs. Edgar Riggle of Cape May, N. J., and by one granddaughter, Sharon Ann Shaull.

Funeral services will be in charge of Rev. Charles Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, at the Jones Memorial on Thursday afternoon. Friends may call at the funeral home. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery at Shelby

ROOM HUNTERS—

Come Sept. 7 and 13 teachers will descend upon Mansfield to join the staff of the public schools for the 1948-49 season. So far not one of them has a room, Supt of Schools W. L. Miller said today. Last week, County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson said the county system needs nine new teachers, but they are hesitant to come here because of the housing shortage. "We're going to need rooms for our teachers," Miller said. "We need the teachers in order to have an adequate teaching system and we'll have to find rooms for them to live in. If anyone has a room or knows of a room, the public school system here would be grateful if they would call 3550-6."

★

'THANK YOU' NOTE—

A "thank you" letter has been received by Glen L. Robinson, business manager of Mansfield schools. The letter, from the Girl Scout council, expresses "sincere appreciation for the schools' permission to use the Senior high school pool last autumn and winter." The letter said that through cooperation of Robinson and the school board, "the council and Red Cross were able to give swimming and life saving instructions to many Mansfield pupils." The letter was signed by Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of the Girl Scouts.

Industries Seek 662 By Sept. 15

Youthful Mansfielders today found that the new congress-approved draft law had erected a barrier to employment C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office here, reported that a number of employers had raised the age requirements for positions formerly offered to youths in their early twenties.

"Principal employers now want permanent workers to be over 25 years old," he said. "They don't want t lose them to the army 90 days after the bill becomes law."

Meanwhile, he reported that employment appeared to be on the increase with 40 major Mansfield employers expecting to hire 662 workers between May 15 and Sept. 15.

According to an employment service report, Mansfield ranked fourth among medium size and small Ohio cities listing anticipated new employment.

13,411 FOR STATE

A report of approximately 1,000 employers throughout the state showed an anticipated 13,411 new jobs by September, an average of 13.41 new jobs per employer. With 40 Mansfield employers expecting to hire 662 new workers, the average here is 16.55 new jobs per employer.

Heading the list of small cities in the state with the greatest anticipated new employment by September is Portsmouth with 1,850 prospective new jobs.

Lorain reported 1,430 expected vacancies while Hamilton reported 816.

"However," Handley said, "total employment in Mansfield exceeds total employment in Portsmouth, a city of comparative size and leading the list of anticipated increases."

MORE MEN WANTED

An interesting sidelight in the employment situation here was the increasing demand for male workers while the demand for female employees remains about the same.

"Women make up about 20.4 per cent of the Mansfield working population," Handley said. "Of the remaining male workers, 39.8 per cent are World War II veterans."

Despite the encouraging job outlook here, the report indicated the continuation of a high rate of job turnover.

"During the month of April there were 1,077 hired and 1,201 separated from 35 Mansfield industries," Handley pointed out. "This places us eighth in Ohio for turnover."

The report showed that during April more than six workers out of every 100 left their jobs.

Kamen also said that summer art classes would start at Maple Lake park June 30 at 10 a. m. with Miss Marjorie Wadsworth in charge. All persons registered for the winter and spring sessions as well as newcomers are invited to attend the first meeting, Kamen said.

Taft, Dewey Draw Crowds; Give Different Impressions

By LOUIS BROMFIELD
(Copyright 1948)

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — By now most of the delegates and a good many sightseers have become acquainted with the leading candidates at headquarters receptions and conferences

Taft and Dewey have drawn the biggest crowds and two men could hardly be more different in the impression they give.

Dewey appears pink, healthy, vigorous and bouncing. He has extraordinaryly bright eyes. The heat does not seem to bother him and he always looks as if he had just come out of the bath tub.

He seems immune to fatigue and walks in and out as if he had springs in his heels. He gives the impression of enjoying immensely the whole show.

If anyone attempts needling him or asking a silly question, Dewey can set the offender back on his heels—but quick.

As one plump lady from Kansas put it: "He's almost too slick!"

Taft gives almost exactly the opposite effect. There is a certain gray quality and he behaves as if he were impatient to get the show over and give his time to more valuable things.

It is clear that he looks upon politicking as a necessary evil. It is not that his manners are not impeccable. He is a gentleman of the truest sense. His brains and common sense are certainly running away with him and I suspect that even while he is shaking hands his steel-trap mind is concerning itself with the figures and details of government and policy.

Wisecrackers don't get any further with Taft than they do with Dewey for he is probably the best debater in the United States and quicker on the trigger than Billy the Kid.

There is a sort of homespun, engaging quality about him despite his intellectual impatience with guff and baby-kissing.
